

They didn't want me to stay here alone, but I finally convinced them that I would much prefer to stay here, than to go gadding.

In cold weather it's nice to stay in where it's nice & warm.

Suppose that is signs of old age, huh?

Well it might be.

It is lonesome of course but just having people around doesn't always keep one from being lonesome though it helps of course.

Renolds is wondering if your mother had a picture of Mike & I, taken the first summer we were married. If she did (I imagine it wouldn't mean ^{as much} to you) & I would like it awfully well if I may have it.

Mike is sitting in a chair & I am sitting on the arm of the chair.

Hope I'm not asking
